Dated: 17/5/22

Order

A committee is constituted to establish the equivalency between Diploma in Production Engineering with Diploma in Mechanical Engineering running under Board of Technical Education duly approved by AICTE.

The committee has opined that "Diploma in Production Engineering and Diploma in Mechanical Engineering are similar except two or three subjects. For the purpose of recruitment they may be treated at par with each other". Further Production Engineering is a specialized branch of Mechanical Engineering and therefore for pursuing higher studies, the diploma holders in Production Engineering are quite suitable and therefore both the diplomas for admission to higher studies can be considered equivalent.

In view of the above it is hereby ordered that Diploma in Production Engineering is to be treated at par with Diploma in Mechanical Engineering for the purpose of applying for job/pertaining higher studies.
